1

The grooves on the back of the blocks enable an exact portioning. Knead one strip of red and one strip of raspberry FIMO together until a marbled pattern is created.

Then shape into a ball and form into a tip at one end. Do the same with two portions of red FIMO.

Press the two drop-shaped pieces together carefully to make a heart and bend the tip slightly to one side.

2

Small hearts are made in just the same way. This time, use orange and red FIMO to create the marbled effect.

Make sure that the portions used for both 'droplets' are identical in size. A circle pattern can be added by placing small balls on top and pressing them down flat.

3

When you have finished making all the large and small hearts, you need to carefully make a hole for the cord or wire. You could use a knitting needle to do this.

The hearts are then hardened in the oven for 30 minutes at 110 °C.

Once they have cooled down, the deco hearts can be given a shiny finish using FIMO gloss varnish.

After drying, you can thread the cord or wire through as required.
